MISSOULA, MONT.

The closing exercises of all grades of the Catholic schools of Missoula, with the exception of the seniors of the Sacred Heart academy, took place in the basement of the Catholic church Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. A large crowd was present, and the program was enjoyed. After a selection rendered by the eighth grade chorus consisting of about fifty girls, Henry Tooley of the boys' banding school delivered a good address, thanking, in behalf of his schoolmates, the teachers and priests for all of the consideration which had been shown them and for the advantages of their education. Diplomas were awarded to the following eighth grade pupils by Rev. Father Trivelli, assisted by Sister Superior Mary Loretta and Father Maughan: Lillian Wilder, Corinne Mitchell, Mattie Walker, Taisy Vickers, Anna Theriault, Florence Schull, Elizabeth Patterson, Helen Nolan, Margaret McLaughlin, Gussie McLaughlin, Kate Longman, Hazel Laddie, Corinne LaHarrie, Katherine Loux, Helen Leland, Nellie Gorman, Celina Cyr and Helen Holzmeier. There were forty different medals and prizes awarded to students in the several grades for proficiency in school work. Among them was the much-coveted state prize donated by the state board of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, a gold medal for proficiency in Irish history. This was captured by Miss Kate Sullivan.

In closing the exercises Rev. Father Trivelli made a short address. Commencement exercises of the Sacred Heart academy were held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in the academy hall.

RENO, NEV.

At the commencement exercises at the university, Dr. Stubbs told the audience of more economic side of the Mackay to the University of Nevada.

In making his announcement Dr. Stubbs stated that Clarence Mackay had first presented the college with $25,000 for a mining building, and that later he presented the college with $25,000. Later he presented the college with the statue of his father, which has been dedicated by Governor Ferguson of Nevada, and which will be unveiled at the Mackay mining building is dedicated.

Having told of the gifts by Mr. Mackay, Dr. Stubbs told the students how the grounds would be beautified at the expense of Clarence Mackay and under the direction of Landscape Architect H. B. Hays of San Francisco. This will mean an expenditure of at least $30,000.

After doing all these things for the college, Clarence Mackay has gone further and has promised Dr. Stubbs that when the Mackay mining building is completed he will give the sum of $5,000 annually for the payment of a professor and instructor in the school of mines, and the payment of an instructor in the school of mineralogy.

After speaking at length on the Mackay gifts, Dr. Stubbs took up the visit of Clarence Mackay to the university, and told how, in the presence of the members of his party, O. J. Smith, Mrs. Stubbs and himself, Clarence Mackay had placed certain articles in the corner box which was placed in the corner of the new Mackay mining building. He told how he had tried to keep this matter quiet, and how he had nearly succeeded in doing so.

SACRED HEART EXERCISES

Fine Program. Well Rendered, Delights Large Audience.

The graduating exercises held at the Sacred Heart academy Wednesday morning were among the finest ever rendered in this city. The entire program was well rendered, and was heartily enjoyed by those present, who greeted each separate part with hearty applause.

The strongest part of the program was the valedictory delivered by Miss Virginia Tarter, who is now a graduate from the regular academy course and from a course in music, used as her subject, "Factors of Development." Her treatment of the theme was excellent.

The exercises opened with "The Mariners" by the senior chorus class of sixty girls, accompanied by Miss Krause. Eight girls in folkloric costumes played one of Moskowski's beautiful waltzes.

A solo, "The Wandering One," was sung by Miss Alice Colman of Idaho Falls and Chippie Anderson, by the Glee club of Sacred Heart, now an old organization, but with ever-renewing material. In the van of this stringed musical club is always little Marie Whitelaw, now a senior, and one of the promising violinists of the academy.

A splendid musical number was the rendition of the "Holy City," by the Misses Tarter, Virginia Tarter, E. D. Malone, the violin and Miss Colman, the piano. The latter, who is now a graduate from the regular academy course and from a course in music, used as her subject, "Factors of Development." Her treatment of the theme was excellent.

DEATH COMES TO O. J. SALISBURY IN NEW YORK

At the last moment, however, Dr. James of New York there was a great deal of excitement. Dr. Salisbury was in no condition to undertake a long journey. From that time until the end came he grew gradually worse. Mr. Salisbury is now in the hands of his wife and three children, Mrs. Louis B. McCune, E. W. Salisbury and O. J. Salisbury. Another son, Blaine, died about a year ago, and the death of his father is believed to have hastened his death.

Few men in the west were better known than O. J. Salisbury. He came to the Intermountain country first, a young man of 25 years of age, in 1888 as a contractor and later as a miner. He was a man of the strictest integrity, and his death was a great loss to the community.
